

SOCIETY

The ushers at the concert to be given at the Auditorium Friday night will be the officers of the Topeka Federation of Women, who are: Mrs. S. S. Estey, Mrs. A. Marburg, Mrs. C. F. Spencer, Mrs. S. S. Beggs, Mrs. W. P. Ewen, Mrs. William Macdennan, Mrs. O. L. Moore, Mrs. W. A. Johnston, Mrs. George Parkhurst, Mrs. F. W. Watson, Mrs. C. J. Evans, Mrs. J. C. Gafford, Mrs. A. A. Robinson, Mrs. W. A. McCarter, Mrs. J. W. Thurston, Mrs. H. O. Garvey, Mrs. A. A. Godard and Miss Lucy Kingman.

The concert is to be given under the auspices of the Music Department of the Federation, and the program will be given by Dean Horace Whitehouse, assisted by Miss Emma Rempfer, Miss Helen Hogeboom and Miss Helen Phipps. There will be no charge for admission, and all who wish to attend the concert are cordially invited to do so.

The April Federation concert will be given by Mrs. Robert Shoemaker, Miss Nellie Kouns, Mr. Herman Springer and Mr. Glenwood Jones, with Miss Myrtle Radcliffe as accompanist.

Western Sorosis will have a meeting Saturday at the home of Mrs. W. E. Aitchison. Roll call will be answered with items on peace. Mrs. H. O. Garvey will give a report on "Our Resolution." Miss Effie Graham will speak on the peace statue in the Andes; Miss Ethel Aldrich will make an address on "The Duty of the Schools in Peace Education," and Mrs. Roy E. Guild will speak about the influence of the great peace conference.

Mrs. A. J. Carruth, Jr., entertained her bridge luncheon club today, at her home in Mulvane street. Those who played, including the members and substitutes were: Mrs. Cyrus Monroe, Mrs. Albert Searle, Mrs. Roland West, Mrs. W. P. Snyder, Mrs. Glen Gray, Miss Daisy Neil, Miss Gwen Godard, Miss Alice Mende, Miss Louise Kaster, Mrs. Charles Makepeace, Mrs. Gray Adams, Mrs. Walter Williams and Miss Maud Hawley.

Either white crepe de chine or batiste may be used for this chic blouse model. It has a shoulder yoke of the material hand-embroidered and joined to the shirred front and back of the bodice by a narrow lace insertion.

The sleeve joins without fullness. The cuffs and collar are also hand-embroidered and a ruching of fine net trims the closing edge of the center pleat, the collar and cuff.

Miss Bertha Machetanz, of Kenton, Ohio, was the guest of honor at an informal tea Tuesday afternoon at which Miss Elizabeth Alderson was hostess.

Miss Machetanz is a teacher in Tarkio college, Tarkio, Mo. She is instructor in public speaking and expression, and has charge of the gymnasium classes of her school. Miss Alderson, who formerly lived in Tarkio, was a student in Tarkio college. Miss Machetanz gave a program of readings at the party yesterday. She was gowned in lavender crepe de chine, made with lace bodice.

Miss Alderson was gowned in black satin trimmed with fur. She was assisted by Mrs. H. L. P. Hillyer and Mrs. L. S. Ferry, who poured tea, and Mrs. David Palmer, Mrs. B. H. Fugh and Miss Reita Updegraff.

About fifty guests attended the party. Miss Machetanz left today for Kansas City, after spending her spring vacation with Miss Alderson.

Mrs. Arza Clark gave a small luncheon this noon for Miss Machetanz.

There is a startling rumor afloat that women are to have a uniform evening dress the same as the men and make it last for years as they do. It sounds like a joke, but there is many a jest spoken in earnest. The idea was born in France where funds are running low, and alas! France still has a way with her, and she will have to be utterly dealt before she stops ruling the world of fashion. It is suspected that the idea, where it has taken hold in this country, is stupidly bolstered up by the masculine half of the community for urgent cash reasons.

The uniform evening dress might be a good thing for the portly dames; for it is a fact that the fat man comes into his own when he gets into evening clothes, and it might work the same way with the women, but it would take the very spice out of life for the rest of womankind. The supporters of the idea cite the charm of the unvarying court dress in England, where Eileen can wear grandma's court finery complete and be all the grander for its antiquity. But dress-makers over here are not going to allow a fashion for uniform dress if they hope to stay in business.

It is strange that the idea of economy for women's clothes is thought of at the same time that the tailors are making an effort to dress mild in brocaded satin knickerbockers, velvet coats and silver buckled boots, as they have declared they will do (providing, of course, that they can win the consent of the men to be so arrayed.)

The Woman's Dining club, of Kansas City, Mo., will give a dinner party Saturday night at Coates House, and a Topekan, Mrs. W. A. McCarter, will be their guest of honor and the principal speaker for the evening. She has been asked to speak to the toast "The Highbrow." The club is made up of successful professional and business women.

The Catholic Ladies' club will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. C. McDonough, 816 Tyler street.

The Highland Park Art club will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Vida Estelle Busch, 634 Lincoln street. All members of the club are cordially invited to be present.
